Using the Family Search Wiki for Indexing Project Instructions and Project Updates

Would it be helpful to have the ability to access project information and project updates from one location? Of course.

On the projects home page there are links to each project update page and the statistical information for all indexing projects.

The clickable links in bold indicate there have been recent changes to the project instructions, additional helps or updates. ## after the link indicates there is a presentation on how to index the project.

All project pages have the same features so let's use the California Voting Registers as an example of how to use all the project features.

Indexers and Arbitrators can go to the project updates from within the indexing program. Click the Project Instructions tab and then click the blue link to the Project Updates.

After clicking on a project, the project updates page opens.
